Table of Contents

1. Bloodclan
2. Chapter 1
3. Chapter 2
4. Chapter 3
5. Chapter 4
6. Chapter 5
7. Chapter 6
8. Chapter 7
9. Chapter 8
10. Chapter 9
11. Chapter 10
12. Chapter 11
13. Gey guys

Bloodclan

Guys kits get there full names in dis book ok.

Leader of Bloodclan: Flame- ginger Tom with many scars and yellow eyes.

Cats of Bloodclan:
WhiskerFang- White she-cat with blue eyes (mother to ScourgeWhisker)
ScourgeWhisker- White she-cat with blue eyes and black stripes, unusually looks like a starclan cat.
Scar- jet black Tom with many scars and green eyes.
Murderfang- pure white Tom with many scars an yellow eyes.
Lier- grey Tom with hazel eyes.
Feral- ginger she-cat with many scars and yellow eyes.

Chapter 1

Guys this book talks in ScourgeWhiskers pov k.

I woke to a sunny morning, after the battle we had to return to the city. Monsters roared past us, we didn't flinch. I stood on my tiny kit paws, I bounded over to our leader Flame.
"Flame when can I go hunting with the others?" I asked, since there was very few prey in the city hunting groups left until they caught enough to feed us all.
"Like I said ScourgeWhisker you can hunt when your old enough you can hunt but right now it's too dangerous," Flame said, I sighed and padded back to the box I slept in. I watched the monsters roar past, I missed Scourge. H was afraid of nothing, he was my father. I lay there thinking when the others came back, I padded over to them and Whiskerclaw dropped me a mouse. I quickly ate my fill, I padded over to my mother and the rest. Flame did not look so happy as when I left him, he was furious.
"I GIVE YOU A WEEK AND THIS IS ALL YOU BRING BACK YOUR LUCKY I NEED ALL OF YOU OR YOU WOULD ALL BE DEAD!" Flame spat in fury, I winced at how sharp his words were to my mother and the others.
"Flame I am so sorry there is very little prey," WhiskerClaw said hanging her head.
"Flame please let me hunt with them, I will show you what I can do honest I will do my best," I said standing as tall as I could, all the cats let out a purr.
"She could tag along for this one time, if she shows she is good enough she can hunt with us," Flame said, I bounced with joy. We padded away from the ally and out onto the dangerous streets, I stuck close unflinching as monsters roared past. I saw a rat sneaking out into the streets, I snuck up on it and killed it. Whiskerclaw came over and gave me a encouraging lick on the head, I kept holding it when we came to the edge of the city. I saw a large forest and saw a group of cats looking at us from the bushes, they smelled of a similar scent my father had before we buried his body. My fur stood on end and a low hiss rumbled in my throat, the others hissed at them when they left.

"That was Thunderclan, the cats that killed most of Bloodclan, wind clan also helped, shadow clan and river clan helped us fight them, we are part of shadow clan and river clan ourselves," Flame said, we stared after the cats.
"Why not attack them again?" I asked.
"They are too great in number plus we would need the help of shadow clan and river clan again," Flame said, I nodded and followed them back to the ally where I fell asleep.

Guys I hope you enjoyed this chapter, leave a comment on what you think should happen.

Chapter 2

I woke the next morning to it pouring down rain, my box was getting soaked so I had to move under the small shelter my mother had built. I shook my head trying to get the water off my whiskers, we knew today we would starve. Through the rain I spotted a brown tabby followed by a ginger she-cat, they padded past and saw us. We couldn't tell if they were clan cats or not, they came into our shelter.
"Greetings I am Bramblestar this is my deputy Squirrelflight, who are you?" The tabby Tom asked.

Guys this has nothing to do with bramble stars storm ok.

"I am flame and this is what remains of Bloodclan no thanks to your clans," Flame said, I knew one wrong word and he would snap.
"You don't seem to have many cats," scoffed the she-cat, I unsheathed my claws ready to pounce at her when Whiskerclaw held me back with her tail.
"No fighting today my kit," Whiskerclaw said her fur rising.
"You might want to teach your mate some manners," hissed Flame, Squirrelflight got a sharp look.
"I will talk to her but we have come to find a cat called princess we have to tell her of fire stars death," Bramblestar said, I stood up first.
"I know where she lives, I can take you there if you wish," I said, flame nodded to me as if knowing I would do it anyway.
"That would be great," Bramblestar said, I showed them to princess's house.
"She lives here," I said pointing to it with my white with black striped tail, Bramblestar gave me a look.
"If I didn't know any better you look like a starclan cat," Bramblestar said, I flicked my tail and both cats dissapeared. I knew they would need a guid to leave the city, I waited for them.
"You probably need a guid out of here," I said, Squirrelflight almost shot me a angry retort when she was stopped.
"That's would be great," Bramblestar said, I showed them to the edge of the city and no more.

"Farewell Bramblestar and Squirrelflight," I called after them, they raised their tails in farewell and I padded back to the wet shelter. I shook the water from my pelt, I sneezed as a water drop landed on my nose. I layed down, I remembered the fact the clans had killed my father. One day I would get revenge, but this time it would be a little different.

Chapter 3

I woke the next morning and padded out to flame, he was looking at the sky.
"Hey flame I have a plan but I will need everyone's help," I said.
"Tell me first then we will tell the others," flame said, we went behind the box in which he slept.
"Ok so because Bramblestar said I look like a cat from starclan, if I acted like one I could trick them and tell them a fake prophecy in which they will be terrified, since I can walk in others dreams I can do it to them, when they are scared of the fake prophecy and nothing happens for a few days we can attack and get revenge," I said, I stood in front of him. I grew to my fathers hight but that was all, my mother had been taller but with my fathers hight I had an advantage.
"Your plan sounds interesting, very well let's tell the others," flame said, we told them our plan and scar had a question.
"We will need more cats to pull it off plus we need to kill the clans one by one if we are to succeed," scar said, I nodded at this.
"I have something to tell all of you," flame said.
"What is it?" I asked.
"Because ScourgeWhisker is daughter of scourge she is leader of Bloodclan," flame said, I dipped my head and jumped onto our meeting rock.
"We will scout the city for any rouges and kittypets willing to join us, soon enough we will have enough cats to destroy the forest," I said, they yowled in agreement. I went into my new den and lay down, I fell asleep knowing we would win this fight.

Chapter 4

I woke to a paw prodding my side, it was my deputy Scar.
"Hey we found some cats willing to join, you may want to come see them all," scar said his gaze steady, I followed him and the amount of cats I saw was amazing. I saw at least twenty (20) cats, scar stood next to me.
"I hear you wish to join Bloodclan," I said my voice steady, the strongest cat of them all came forwards.
"We want revenge on those forest cats, they chased us from our home," the Tom said, a smirk appeared on my face.
"Scar and flame will fill you in on my plans right now I have to start them," I said going back to my nest, I curled up and walked in the med cats dreams. She was walking through the forest, I made myself look exactly like a starclan cat. I appeared in front of her, her eyes widened in shock.
"I have a prophecy for your clan," I said trying to sound ancient.
"I listen to the will of starclan," she said.
"A storm grows stronger along the horizon, only a cat of pure heart can stop it," I said, her gaze was steady.
"What does it mean?" She asked.
"That is for starclan to know but the clans to find out," I said, I faded and woke from the dream. My plan was set, all I needed to do is wait for it to settle before we attacked.

Guys I kinda made the prophecy a bit true, who can guess the cat that is pure hearted.

Chapter 5

Tonight we would attack Thunderclan while its strongest cats were away at the gathering, we padded through the forest quietly. We snuck into their camp, we walked around and started to bite through the brambles. Soon there was a whole in each den, I padded up to a grey Tom. I smirked as more cats came in, I slit the toms throat. Seconds later we had killed all the Warriors, we then started on the elders then the queens. Soon the bodies of the cats were in a pile in the centre of the camp, I smirked and we ran from the clan and home to Bloodclan ally. I knew with so many dead we could slaughter them in a battle, all we needed to do was kill off the other clans one by one. The sun was rising and because Thunderclan camp was so close to the town we heard wails of pain, I smirked in victory. I hid in the shadows and watched Thunderclan, I managed to hear what Bramblestar said.
"This must be what the storm is Bramblestar, it's killing our cats while we are away soon we might all be dead if we do not find this cat," the medicine cat said.
"Don't you mean cats, there seemed to be a lot of them by the smell," Bramblestar said, my smirk grew bigger.
"Didn't you notice how starclan seems to be silent, the stars in silver pelt are growing dimmer," she said her gaze steady.
"Yes and a few are missing as well, it's odd, maybe star clans fading," a white Tom said, I had a small plan to kill them but I knew that Bramblestar still had five lives. I bolted back to Bloodclan, a few were fighting amongst themselves. I jumped onto my box and sat there, they gathered around.
"Tonight we attack Thunderclan, arm yourselves with dog teeth on your claws and in your collars, then once we do next gathering we murder river clan, then wind clan, then shadow clan than we will rule the forest!" I yowled, they yowled with me. We soon had dog teeth on our claws and on our collars, the sun had started to set. The time was coming, coming for our victory.

Chapter 6

We padded through the quiet night forest, we soon arrived at thunderclans camp. We looked down into the camp, we stayed in a tree hollow.
"Ok so you know the plan, me, flame and scar attack Bramblestar, the rest of you attack the clan," I said, they all nodded and we snuck into their camp. Scar and flame followed me into bramblestars den, I told flame and scar to stay hidden in the shadows. Because I had no collar I looked pure starclan, I sat there and he woke. His gaze started as he though I was a starclan cat, I made my voice gentle.
"Hello Bramblestar," I said my voice sweet.
"Hello," Bramblestar said his gaze confused as he did not know me.
"I am moondusk," I said lying, his gaze was worried.
"Do you have information about the prophecy?" Bramblestar asked.
"No but I am here to tell you what's wrong with starclan, we are dieing Bramblestar, strange cats who are stronger then any cat combined,"I said, he nodded.
"That would explain it," he said.
"And those cats are us Bramblestar," I said my voice normal and I spun around, flame and scar appeared by my side.
"How in starclan!" He yowled, I pinned him down scar and flame helping.
"This is for your kittypet leader killing my father!" I spat, I dug my dog teeth covered claws deep into his throat. I dragged it across his throat, even starclan wouldn't be able to repair the damage. I heard yowls and hisses come from outside, I padded out to find them. I dragged bramblestars body out, I threw it down and all cats fell silent.
"No no no my mate wake up!" Wailed a ginger she-cat.
"I see we have weakling in this clan,"I spat, they looked at me.
"You will pay!" The she-cat hissed, she lunged at me but I moved and she fell with a snap. She moved no longer as her head was twisted in an awkward pasition, a smirk came across my face.
"From now on this will be blood clans camp, if any of you wish to join us be welcome to say so now," I said, a Tom with ginger fur and brown stripes padded forward.

"I am Firefox, I will join Bloodclan," he said, a smirk came across it. A she-cat looked at him, he whispered to her and she was still worried.
"Very well Firefox welcome to Bloodclan, I am ScourgeWhisker leader of Bloodclan daughter to scourge and Whiskerclaw, and the cats who stay loyal to starclan will be prisoners and be fed once every two days," I said, a few more cats joined but most of them stayed loyal. I got a few cats to dig out the prison, we then made them go into it and we ruled Thunderclan. A shadowy cat appeared near me, I knew he wasn't starclan.
"If you allow us the dark forest will join your clan," the Tom said, a smirk came across my face.
"Bring them all here," I said, he dissapeared. Moments later a large group of shadow cats came into camp, the Tom looked at me.
"This is all of us, some died in a battle with the clans but we are still stronge, our original leader was Mapleshade but she has backed down and your the leader of us now," the Tom said, a ginger and white she-cat appeared. Her ember eyes digging into my soul, I smirked and she padded forward.
"I am Mapleshade, I give my place to you in order for us to be victorious, I also see you have killed most of Thunderclan but it's prisoners, I have one question though," she said her voice cold.
"Go on," I said.
"Will you attend the gatherings?" Mapleshade asked, I thought for a little.
"Of course but we will take very few warriors, those warriors will be flame, scar, you Mapleshade, thistleclaw, Ashfur, bone, mudclaw, Snowtuft, that is all," I said, she nodded and gathered those cats into a group.

Skip to next gathering.

We traveled together, I doubted the other clans knew that Thunderclan had been taken over. We entered the clearing, most cats backed away. Others hissed, even a few smiled. I jumped up next to the other leaders, they shifted where they sat one of them flattened his ears.
"Who are you and what did you do with Thunderclan," the Tom hissed, I looked at him and stood he shrank in his seat.
"Thunderclan is no more now that Bloodclan has murdered it's leader and deputy, I am ScourgeWhisker daughter of scourge," I spat, he shrank down lower. I sat in my seat once more, the other leaders were shaking.

"Now that we have that covered I wish for us to begin," I said, the others nodded.
"I will go first,"the Tom that I had made shrink in his seat said, we all nodded.
"Go ahead," I said.
"Prey has been plentiful in windclan, we have more rabbits then we can catch, we have had a bit of trouble with shadowclan, other then that we are good," he said sitting down, next a white Tom with black paws stood.
"Shadowclan is well fed with frog, though now Bloodclan has taken over Thunderclan we will respect those borders a bit more in hopes of no trouble," he said sitting down, a dark grey she-cat stood.
"River clan has many fish, we have had a bit of trouble with windclan but we are ok, and we will do the same as blackstar, we will respect our borders more in hopes of no trouble with Bloodclan," she said, I stood next.
"As you all know Thunderclan is no more, I respect that you will respect our territory but windclan still hasn't agreed with you on respecting borders, I do not know of the prey but it will not be shared without a good reason," I said, the Tom that was leader of windclan stood his fur bristling.
"Windclan will stay the same, even though you have killed Thunderclan means nothing to us, only one more rodent in the territories around the lake," he spat, I unsheathed my claws. I stood up and padded forwards next to him, the windclan Warriors below were trembling.
"So this is the way windclan treats its warriors, looks like I have another clan to get rid of," I said, the windclan leader stood trying to be brave. I lifted a paw, I went to slit his throat then remembered the truce that I HAD to follow or all the clans would attack mine. I slammed my paw down inches from his paws, the dog teeth glinted in the moonlight.
"ScourgeWhisker if you break the truce all clans have a right to attack you," blackstar said, I hissed.
"Your lucky you runt, but we will drive you out or kill you, you just wait," I said sitting in my spot once more, blackstar stood up.
"This gathering is at a close," he said running off with his warriors, soon we were back at camp. I went to my new den to think about how to get rid of windclan, I fell asleep as my new plan came to me.

Chapter 7

I woke the next morning, there was a thorn in my side.
"SOME CAT GET IN HERE AND GET THE THRONS OUT OF MY NEST!" I yowled, I pulled the thorn out of my skin when scar bolted in. He started to remove the thorns from my nest, he then looked at me.
"You ok ScourgeWhisker?" Scar asked.
"I am fine now thanks," I said, he took the thorns away. I sat down unable to sleep, tonight I had to put my plan into motion. I padded out and saw the fresh kill pile filled, I smiled at that. I also saw that the camp was changing with leaf-bare, I knew that during leaf-bare it would make it harder for cats to heal. I knew that the dark forest wanted their own clan, I would give them windclan. I jumped onto high rock, I sat down and the clan gathered.
"We take over windclan tonight, I will be giving windclan to the dark forest, get ready for the fight IMEADIATLY,"I said, I went inside my den and sat down. I covered my claws with dogs teeth, I flexed my claws to get used to them again. I gathered up half of the clan to take with me, we got to the shadowclan border. We spotted a patrol and they looked worried, i sat calmly as they padded up to us.
"I-is shadowclan getting attacked?" Asked one cat worry in his voice.
"No we are on our way to windclan to teach them not to back chat Bloodclan," I said, they looked relieved.
"We can respect that, windclan has been a but in our fur since you threatened them but we will no longer avoid it, if you want we will fight along side you," the she-cat said, this was working perfectly.
"That would be great but if your leader asks you helped us in a battle ok," I said, they nodded and fell into line. We soon arrived at the windclan camp, I knew they were in their dens sleeping. We snuck into the camp, I went straight for onestars den. I got there and saw him fidgeting in his sleep, a smirk came across my face. I could simply trick him like I did with Bramblestar but that trick got old, I decided to make him watch his warriors either join or die. I grabbed his scruff knowing the others had the cats quiet outside, I dragged him out and held him while a few dark forest cats helped so I could speak.

"Oh did we catch you by surprise like we did Thunderclan, poor poor windclan, now I have a little proposition for all of you, join Bloodclan and live or be with this trash and die," I said, half of windclan joined while the others stayed loyal. I turned to the dark forest, smirks grew across their faces.
"I don't think we will kill them except onestar, but we will torture them," Mapleshade said.
"Mapleshade, since you were the leader in the dark forest, you now have your own clan," I said, she stood with pride.
"We will be respectful of your borders and all other borders," Mapleshade said, I knew the other two clans were afraid enough but now they would be scared. Bloodclan left while the dark forest stayed behind to build the prison, we left the shadowclan cats at their border and went back to camp. We got there to see an argument break loose, when I got there all cats froze.
"And why are you two fighting," I said my voice calm but frosty, they broke apart.
"I caught this Tom flirting with my sister," spat the she-cat, she quickly realised she was talking to me seconds before I swiped at her. Most cats though I missed, suddenly blood burst everywhere. She fell to the ground her eyes wide with shock, the whole of Bloodclan backed down.
"This is what happens to cats who are not loyal to me," I spat, they all shrank down. I went into my den, I layed in my nest the love for blood growing. One day we would turn all the clans to one, that clan would be deathclan.

Chapter 8

Time skip to the next gathering.

We padded down the slope to see shadowclan and riverclan talking, I jumped onto my place. The new windclan came down the slope starling both leaders, I nodded to Mapleshade.
"Where is windclan?" Blackstar asked.
"I got my revenge as I said, now windclan belongs to Mapleshade and the dark forest," I said, they exchanged worried glances.
"So let's begin," Mapleshade said, I had some sort of thing that made the dark forest cats normal cats again. They had to eat and sleep as we all did, I looked over the clan as blackstar stood up.
"This gathering is starting, if Bloodclan will do the honers," blackstar said, I stood up as he sat down.
"Bloodclan prey had been plentiful, we have defeated windclan and it now belongs to the dark forest, we also have a new queen in the clan, she will have kits any day now but as our rules go she will train them herself," I said, I sat down and blackstar stood.
"Shadowclan prey has been running well, we did have a problem with windclan a few days ago but other then that we are fine," blackstar said sitting down, mistystar stood up.
"Fish runs well in riverclan, we have had no problems but we have scented dogs," mistystar said, she sat down and Mapleshade stood.
"My clan is no longer called windclan we are now viperclan, prey runs well and a few prisoners have died from starvation, other then that we are good," she said sitting, I stood again.
"This meeting is at a close," I called, we padded back to camp. We got there to find two cats dragging a body of one of the prisoners out of camp, I also saw two cats fighting yet again. They saw me and back away, I padded up to them. They were scared, I unsheathed my claws.
"Tell me what this is about now!" I spat, they exchanged glances.
"Mr right over here says we should feed the prisoners more often," the she-cat said her voice soft, I looked at the Tom.
"NO I DIDN'T YOU HAIRLESS RAT!" The Tom spat at the she-cat, I looked at the cat next to me.

"Tell me what they were fighting about," I said.
"They are fighting about who will kill you and become leader," he said, my glare made them tremble.
"So we have traitors with us do we," I said my voice icy, they were trembling.
"Would you like us to deal with them so you can deal with other issues," he said, I saw it was scar. I nodded and padded into my den to find the prisoners putting death berries in some fresh kill, my shadow made them freeze. They formed a line and I pretended to be scared, their faces showed they fell for it.
"Oh no I am so gunna die," I said trying to be convincing, the strongest of them came closer and held his paw up. I lashed out at his throat and he fell to the ground, I licked the blood from my paw and the others ran at me together. I dodged and a few of them flew over the edge their bones snapping, the others stopped. I pushed them off and they landed but didn't die, I jumped down after them.
"Please spare us our friend made us do it," said the weakest one, I swiped my paw across her face.
"They will get rid of you I have things to plan," I said, I jumped into my den and heard shrieks come from outside. I layed down in my nest, I fell asleep slowly.

Chapter 9

I woke to hisses a screeches outside, I padded out my fur bristling. I saw a large fight had broken out in camp, I yowled for quiet and everyone froze. They moved into a line, I walked past my fur still bristling.
"And why were you all fighting," I said sounding calm, they all were still quiet.
"I-I-I am sorry ScourgeWhisker b-but w-we were fighting over what to do with the prisoners, some of us th-think they should just be k-killed because we are w-wasting prey on them, others say th-they could be useful," scar said, I lashed at his face. He winced as the deep wound started to bleed, my anger was returning.
"NO EXCUSES THE PRISONERS WILL DO THE HUNTING AND TWO OF YOU WILL GO WITH THEM IF THEY EAT THE PREY THEMSELVES THEN THEY ARE TO BE KILLED GOT IT!" I yowled, they all nodded and bolted off to do their duties. I stormed into the forest, out of the corner of my eye I spotted a few pairs of eyes. I kept walking and knew I was getting spyed on, I came to a dead end and knew that if I wasn't smart they might kill me. They left from the bushes, the prisoners might have been weak but I saw a few traitors from Bloodclan with them.
"You really thought we would actually follow you when Bloodclan needs a stronge leader, when your gone I will be leader," ravin said his eyes glowing, I knew they could kill me easily. I prepared for my death, if I died I knew I died with my fathers killer clans blood on my paws. As ravin lunged at me he was knocked from the air by a ginger cat, I looked at up see Firefox standing over the now limp body. He lunged at the prisoners, scar ran at him with a yowl. I tackled scar and with a simple bite and snap he was dead, we killed the prisoners and were panting.
"Thank you Firefox, most cats are afraid to help me because they are afraid I will hurt them after," I said almost out of breath.
"You are bloodclan so leader, I thank you for letting my mother live but she went too far," Firefox said, he caught our breath and padded back to camp. Some cat had happy faces until they saw me and Firefox then their faces turned to hatred, some faces were glad to see me. I jumped onto the high rock, the cats who were still loyal sat.

"As most of you know we have many traitors in Bloodclan, today we chase them out, also Firefox will be my what they call deputy," I said, the loyal cats turned their claws unsheathed at the non loyal ones. The loyal cats were; gore, fox, Firefox, Luna, tiger, zap, thunder, trap, trick, flora, star, Hazel, sandy, randy, dreamer, snake, hypno, fang. The non loyal ones were outnumbered, they shrank down. I unsheathed my claws and my clan attacked, I jumped on serpent. She tried to shake me off but I placed my jaws on the back of her neck, I twisted and she fell limp. A heavy cat had jumped on me, I tried to shake him off but he managed to stay on. My energy was draining from the weight I had to carry, I soon fell down. The cat that was weighing me down was no other then my brother, his black pelt had white stripes through it. He yowled making all cats freeze, my loyal Bloodclan had a face of horror. They all charged at my brother, the non loyal cats fled as did he. I stood my legs hurting, I was surprised my brother had not killed me when he had the chance. Firefox helped me to my den, the gathering was tonight. I had to sleep or I would never make it, I knew Firefox was still loyal to starclan but I didn't care. He lay beside me as I fell asleep, I knew I shouldn't love another cat but he made it hard. I drifted into a deep sleep, I would tell him a few days after the gathering once the clans were together.

Chapter 10

I woke to Firefox nudging me awake, I knew it was time for the gathering so I got up.

Time skip to them arrived at the gathering.

I jumped onto my place, the three leader gave me a nod. I had to do this tonight, I would go last tonight.
"Viperclan I doing well, we got a few unexpected arrivals before we came, they said they were driven from Bloodclan, this I do believe but for a reason, prey is running well even though we have had lots of rain, we have had no problems on our borders and we are healthy," Mapleshade said sitting down, mistystar stood next.
"Riverclan is well fed, we have had no problems on our borders and we are healthy, the rain has brought a large supply of fish into our streams and rivers," Mistystar said sitting down, blackstar stood.
"Shadowclan has had no troubles on the borders, the rain has brought a large supply of frogs to us, two-legs have been no problem to our territory this season, and we are healthy," blackstar said, I stood.
"We have had a few cats betray us, they were chased out of our territory, prey is good but the rain has made it subdued to its burrows, I also have something to ask all of you," I said.
"You may ask," blackstar said.
"I ask of you to join Bloodclan to create a large clan, the name would be decided by all leaders, we would have to border problems and no fighting over territory, we would be free to hunt wherever and whatever we like," I said, mistystar, blackstar and Mapleshade muttered to each other. Blackstar spoke, his voice steady.
"We accept this offer and we will join Bloodclan as long as we decide the name together," blackstar said, all cats yowled in agreement. Mistystar, blackstar, Mapleshade and I huddled close together. I knew of a few names but I wanted to hear their suggestions first, I was quiet as they spoke.
"How about darkclan or snakeclan?" Asked Mapleshade.
"Or what about sandclan or rockclan?" Mistystar asked.

"What about razorclan or sharpclan?" Blackstar asked.
"Or what about deathclan," I said, they all nodded at my idea. We broke apart, Mapleshade stood.
"The new clan will be known as deathclan," she called, the cats yowled in agreement.
"We meet here tomorrow to make the real clan camp, destroy your old ones for we do not need them," I said, they nodded and I bonded back towards my old clan. They gathered around, I stood pride welling inside me.
"We have joined clans with all of the clans and the new clan is death clan, I want all cats to tear down this camp, we move to four trees when the camp is completely torn down, once we go there we start building larger dens to fit all cats," I said, they started on their work immediately. Firefox padded up to me, his face that of happiness.
"I am glad for what you managed to do, firestar was an idiot to not do this," he said.
"He Firefox come with me to my den I wish to ask you something," I said, we went into my den.
"What is it you wish to ask me?" Firefox asked.
"I wish to ask you if you would be my mate?" I said I shifted my paws.
"Of course," Firefox said purring, I purred back.

Chapter 11

Time skip to ScourgeWhisker and Firefox have kits.

I looked down at my kits, their ginger, black and white pelts. The strongest of them was my favourite son, his name was flamewing. The other kit which looked like my father, her name was Tinyfang. They were old enough to train and all, I got a few of the Warriors from shadowclan and riverclan to train them. I stretched in the dappled light of the old four trees, I saw something strange in the shadows so I followed it. I followed it all the way into the old Bloodclan territory, I was in a small clearing when suddenly a sharp pain went down my side. I spun around and nothing was there, I hissed as it kept happening until I was covered in scratches. I stumbled a bit then out of the darkness stepped my brother, blacktooth stood before me a smirk on his face. I managed to kill him, I stumbled back to deathclan camp. I got to the middle then collapsed, I had bled too much. The med cats tried to help me but I knew my time had come, I saw the horror on my kits faces then there was darkness. I saw the borders of starclan and the old dark forest, starclan cats came to me.
"We forgive you, if you wish you can come with us and be free of your past mistakes," said the cat, I saw my father standing there with them as well.
"Dad?" I asked, he nodded.
"Yes my kit it is me I was forgiven for taking one of fire stars lives, you are welcome here," scourge said, I ran to him and purred. I followed them deeper into starclan, I knew my kits would grow stronge and be loyal to their clan.

Gey guys

Hey guys sad to say this book is finished, I hope it was good. I will be making book 2 later on so be wary, next book will be in Tinyfangs view ok. I hope up you all liked it and until next time, peace out.